PRIDAY DECEMBER 10

FROM POINTS AROUND.

REPORTED SPECIALLY FOR THE STAR. CHERRY GROVE .- The United Breth ren Churcu is nearing completion. Gentlemen, shell out for shingles and give it a cover.

Three cases of small-pox at Cherry Grove, so we are informed by C. W. Van Gundy, our agent at that place. "Van" will not go back till it blows over.

DAYTON, KY .- It was Mr. Beatty that ornamented the top end of Miller, the ferryman.

Bishop Dudley, of the Episcopal Church, is expected to preach in St. John's Church, this city, the latter part of the present month.

The reading club and dancing association both promise well, but some people are afraid that both will end in promises.

BELLEVUE, KY .- Keep your shooting from in good order, the chicken thieves are around now. Mr. William Kennedy, of Rhensford street, had eight stolen on of Rhensford street, had eight stolen on last Tuesday night.

In Council the contract for lighting and keeping the street-lamps in good order, was awarded to Mr. John Good at $100 per year. The improvement on Taylor avenue has, been geompleted and was accepted by the Board. West Ratliff, City Marstal, made his report and called the attention of the Board to the fact that small-pox had made its appearance in Bellevue. A resolution instructing the Mayor and his officers to use due diligence in ferreting out all cases of small-pox and have the houses posted, and report same to the School Committee, was adopted. A resolution was adopted recommending that all children attending the Public Schools be vaccinnated, and the Principal be instructed not to admit any child coming from a house where the disease is known to be. And also that all physicians be required to report any cases coming under their notice.

The ladies of the Catholic Church applied, through Mr. Dankee, for the use of the Council Chamber on Christmas ave, for the purpose of erecting a Caristmas tree. Application granted.

No decision was arrived at in regard to that disgraceful pond on Berry and Center streets. Some of the City Fathers are interested—perhaps that accounts for it. Those poor dignitaries are unable to pay for the improvement of the street, and so the people will just have to wade through as usual.

Mr. Dankee says Fairfield avenue is a nulsance. His head is level.

LEXINGTON, KY .- In Judge Mulli

gan's Court yesterday Alice Kenney and Sue Kenney, charged with breach of the peace, were each fined $5 and costs.

peace, were each fined $5 and costs.

Mayor Frazer informs us that he is annoyed from morning till night by tramps, who apply to him for aid. At the last meeting of Council there was $500 put at his disposal for the benefit of the poor of the city; now the tramps are flocking in from all parts of the country. It might be a good thing to arrest a lot of these fellows and send them to the Work house, where they will do the city some good.

Broadway Cristian Church on Wednes-day evening. The power of his influence has been deeply lelt among our citizens. He left for his home in Louisville yesterday.

The ferry company who are about to start their ferry coats across the streets have a monopoly of the right, and we understand are going to charge five cents a trip. Cheap.

LUBLOW, KY .- Council met in special session last Thursday evening for reorganization, President Savage in the ganization, President Savage in the Chair and quorum present. The communication of Nick Brown, asking permission of Council to lay a flag-stone crossing at corner of Ash and Carneal sta, at his (Brown's) expense, granted, after which the honorable body dissolved in tears of grief and joy at their fate last Saturday, denoted ere this, Mr. Haut being the first to yield his seat, so honorably filled for the last two years. Mr. Witey not being present, was spared henorably filled for the last two years. Mr. Wiley not being present, was spared the trouble of welking down and out. After a short prelude by the President and Clerk in bursting open the great seals that held sacred the people's choice of rulers for another year, His Honor Mayor Dalten was requested to step forward and swear in the newly elected public servants at 25 cents per head, a couple of whom were facetiously charged with trying to dodge Uncle Billy. Some of the auditors at our elbow stated that the dodgers had religious scruples, while others asserted that the gentlemen were averse to so much "inflation." He this as it may the Circle was formed, and a solution oath registered, that the city of Ludlow would be carefully guarded for the year to come.

There will be another of those pleasant socials at Odd-fellows' Hall next Saturday evening.

Two ordinances establishing two new routes of street railroad from the Railroad bridge to the Post-office, and from the same point up Saratoga and down Monmouth streets, the most southern point being Rinagold street, were presented by Mr. O'Hara. These passed to the first reading, when on motion of Mr. Boyd, they were laid on the table.

Mr. Boyd presented an ordinance accepting the effer of the Newport and Cincinnati Street Ruiroad Company, to construct a "branch" from the corner of Madison and Taylor to Eglantine and Saratoga streets, and back. Considerable excitement was raised by this ordinance. The President declared the ordinance out of order. Mr. Boyd appealed. Mayor Berry called Mr. Horton to the chair, and taking the Boor poured out a bitter invective against the ordinance. The question of sustaining Mr. Boyd's appeal was then put, and was voted against by all except Mr. Boyd.

Bills and resolutions presented yesterday were taken from the table and presented to the proper committees. Various resolutions and memorials of minor importance were presented and referred. Mr. Conkling presented and referred. Mr. Conkling introduced a bill amending the act creating the Geneva Award Fribunal, and Mr. Snerman a bill extending the time for the adjudicature of claims under the award. Mr. Ingalls introduced a bill to amend the act of July 22, 1864, to aid in constructing railroad and telegraph lines from the Missouri river to the lines from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean. A bill was introduced by Mr. Bayard authorizing the payment of duties on imports in Legal-tender and National Bank Notes, and referred to the Committee on Finance. A motion to change the rule of the Senate in reference to the introduction of bills was made and referred.

How Mrs. Sniffles Tried to Sober Lycurgus.

[From the Brunswick (Mo.) News.] Mrs. Saidles has had more trouble with Lycurgus, and has been strengthened in the belief that he is totally unlike other men—in fact, tectotally unlike many of them. He had been on a long sober stretch up to a couple of weeks ago. About that time he learned that his only auut, a rich old lady in St. Louis, had died and left him an immense fortune—to get, if he could. This his only auut, a rich old lady in St. Louis, had died and left him an immense fortune—to get, if he could. This was a sore disappointment to our friend, for he had expected to be made a rice man by the death of this (once-respected) relative. Never was the news of an aunt's death read with more poignant grief by surviving kin. A postsoript to the lutter conveying the sad intelligence, stated that the good old soul had ocqueathed her entire wealth to a benevolent institution. This was the rusty rod of iron that pierced his soul, and made murky the fountain of hope. He tore the letter to pieces, and bent his faltering steps to the hearest saleon. He drank—ae fell.

[Those stars represent drinks—forty drinks to the star.]
Airs. S. was in despair. She had thought his reformation was complete, and now "the old man was drink again," with no sign of ever letting upfinally she bethought her of the system in vogue at certain insbrinte asylums—that of mixing fiquor with every article of food until the pulicat acquires a lasting distaste for almohol. She determined to try that plan on Lycurgus.

She procured a galion of the worst whisky to be had, and put some of it in the old man's coffee, to begin with. It has been his anvarying custom to drink but one cup at a meal. That night in passed his cup back to be refiled, saying as he smacked his lips:

"Better coffee 'nusual, ole gai."

Next morning she increased the desc. He drauk three cups, and fell from his [Those stars represent drinks-forty he came to his meals with greater regularity than usual.

She is not the woman to give up anything without a fair trial. She got another galfon, and came near starving herself to death white she fed it to Sniffles in everything that he ate and drank. His appetite increased at a fearful rate, and he complimented her every day on her newly acquired skill in cooking.

The second galion soon went the way of the first, and after two or three meals had passed without the seasoning of which Sniffles had become so fond, he said, in tones that would have touched the heart of a tax collector:

"Mirander, dear, the vituals don't taste as good as taey used ter. Seems to be somethin' or 'nather missing."

Is it any wonder that the poor woman gave up in despair?
